

The South East England Development Agency (SEEDA) acquired the land surrounding the airfield at Daedalus from the Ministry of Defence (MOD) in spring 2006. We envisage a mixed-use development which will include employment, leisure and community facilities.

Regeneration should benefit local people and businesses. SEEDA wants to maximise the opportunities that this site provides. How this is achieved is not yet known, which is why we want your input. Daedalus is important to you, your neighbourhood and your community. We want to hear your thoughts on what the vision and the future for Daedalus should be.

Developing a site of this size will take time and we are currently at the beginning of this process. This questionnaire is the start of the community consultation. The results of this will help to determine the vision and will influence how the project is taken forward.

We would therefore appreciate your participation and ask that you complete and return this questionnaire to us via the FREEPOST provided by Friday 8th June 2007.

This questionnaire is also available on the website www.daedalus-seeda.co.uk along with further information about SEEDA, the project team and the development.

Louise Billington from Groundwork Solent (the Daedalus Community Consultation Team) will be your main point of contact and she will be happy to discuss any queries you have. She can be contacted by the following methods:
